

Ks3

About

Throughout KS3 students studying History will be encouraged to develop their knowledge of different historical periods in a chronological progression. The curriculum covers the main key themes of political, religious, social, cultural and economic change as a context for students' understanding of the past. In developing this knowledge they will be expected to develop and use the following key skills:

- Evaluation of different types of historical sources through the key ideas of content, context and purpose
- The ability to communicate historical knowledge and understanding of the past in a precise, analytical manner usually in the format of an essay

Assessment Arrangements

At Keystage formal assessments in each year group are made up of the following:

- Summary essays based around a topic
- Source evaluation completed as an in-class test
- Annual exam.

Students will also receive regular homework and feedback from teachers on their progress being made.
